1. _____

Guy Fawkes Day is a festival which takes place on 5th November. People light bonfires, burn effigies and watch fireworks shows on that night. Sometimes children ask people in the street for money, crying, 'a penny for the guy'. This tradition is over 400 years old and began with a conspiracy in British history.

2. _____

Queen Elizabeth I made life difficult for Catholics. Their land was taken away and they were put in prison. After Elizabeth died and James I became king, the Catholics hoped that their situation would get better (James' mother was a Catholic). Unfortunately, they had nothing to celebrate as James wasn't more tolerant than Elizabeth.

3. _____

That was why a few men started working on a plot to get rid of James I. They wanted to blow up Parliament with the King inside. They found a room under the Houses of Parliament, put 36 barrels of gunpowder in it, and waited for the opening of Parliament on November 5th.

4. _____

But their secret plan didn't work out. One of the men sent a letter to his cousin who worked in Parliament to warn him not to come to work. The King saw the letter and ordered his soldiers to search Parliament. In the cellar, the soldiers found Guy Fawkes, who was arrested and executed. And so Guy Fawkes' name went down in history.
